THE NORWAY ADVERTISER

(OXFORD COUNTY, ME.)

NORWAY, ME. FRIDAY, JUNE 12, 1925.

VOLUME LVI

Norway and Vicinity

The hot wave which has been sweeping over the State since Saturday morning, has been particularly severe in the Norway section. The thermometer has been in the 80's and 90's since Saturday morning, and the sun has been shining brightly all day. The result has been a general feeling of discomfort and a desire for cooler weather. The farmers are particularly annoyed, as the heat has dried up the crops and the stock is suffering. The children are also suffering from the heat, and many of them are complaining of headaches and dizziness. The people of Norway are hoping for a change in the weather, and are looking forward to the cooler days of the coming week.

Norway 9; South Paris 4

In something of an erratic game the full grounds Saturday, Norway set South Paris behind in the race for the cup. Several Paris players were at the athletic meet at Lewiston and failed to drop into the line-up until late in the afternoon. The second half was more stubbornly fought when Paris tightened and held the Norwegians until a batting rally in the eighth netted the shoe town a cluster of three scores.

What My Neighbor Says

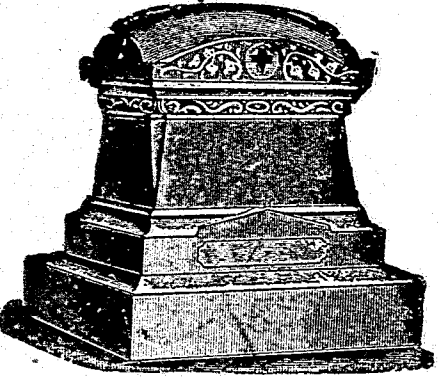

Is of Interest to Norway Folks

When one has had the misfortune to suffer from backache, headaches, dizziness, urinary disorders and other kidney ills—and has found relief from all this sickness and suffering, that person's advice is of untold value to friends and neighbors. The following case is only one of many thousands, but it is that of a Norway resident. Who could ask for a better example?

E. C. Libby, tax collector, Sanborn St., says: "I had a great deal of backache which annoyed me to do anything. My head ached and specks floated before my eyes, blurring my sight. I used different remedies but it was not until I took Doan's Pills to give me lasting results."

Four years later, Mr. Libby said: "I haven't had occasion to use Doan's Pills since they cured me."

Price 60c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Pills—the same that Mr. Libby had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

HARRISON

Leon Burnham
The entire community was shocked and saddened Friday, by the death of one of the honored and respected citizens of the town, Leon Burnham. Mr. Burnham passed away at the Maine General Hospital in Portland, after a serious operation.

He was an engineer on the Bridgton and Saco River Railroad, where he had been a faithful employee for some time. He was born in Harrison, Oct. 21, 1886, the son of Ralph and Jennie (Kneeland) Burnham, who survive.

He leaves a widow and two children, Franklin and Frances. He was a member of Harrison Lodge 1, O. O. F. Funeral services were held at the home on Front St., Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, attended by Rev. L. W. Witham. Many beautiful flowers testified to the love and esteem in which he was held by a host of friends.

The bearers were A. P. Stanley, Phil Spaulding, Fred Tenney and Harold Maxwell. Burial in the family lot at Harrison Cemetery.

We don't blame
some men for trading out of town!

Let Us Repeat
That!

We don't blame some men for jumping a train or stepping on an accelerator when the need for new clothing sets in. They don't know us—they don't know this stock—they have never been in this store—and they don't know what's in store for them.

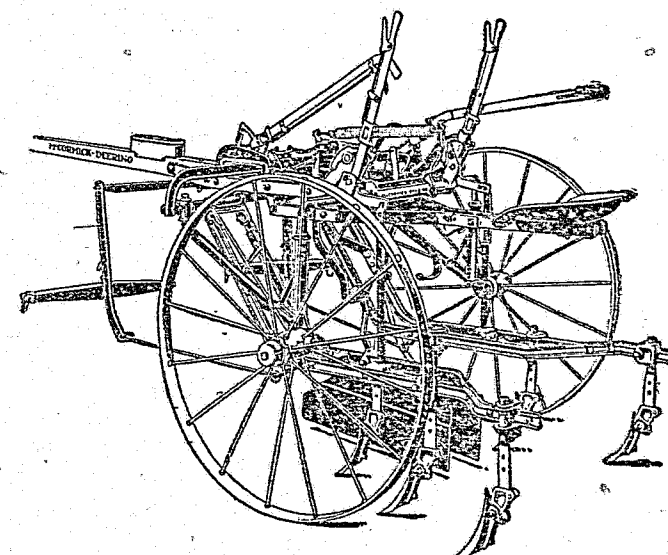

If the Norway men now wearing clothes that were purchased in New York would take the time to drop in here and compare notes and notions, the Canadian National would sell fewer tickets and the restaurants, hotels and theaters in New York would do less business and—We'd do more.

Get the Big Yield!

From the first day those tender corn plants push through the soil into sight, you look anxiously under the corn row and picture in your mind's eye the harvest beyond. What that harvest will be depends much on your cultivator and how you use it. Do you like to use it? Is it easily controlled?

McCormick-Deering Cultivators

Long ago our McCormick-Deering cultivators went through the experimental stage. As worth-while improvements were discovered they were adopted. Today—wherever you go, you hear them praised for their good work; their easy operation; their convenient adjustments; and the comfort they provide the user.

You should go to the store of the McCormick-Deering dealer and look them over. Samples are set up there for you. Climb into the seats, shift the pedals, handle the levers. Then let the dealer quote you the low prices. You will quickly agree that these popular cultivators give real value for the money, and these are days when real value counts big.

COULDN'T EAT ENOUGH TO GIVE HER STRENGTH

Portland Woman Was So Weak She Wasn't Able To Walk A Block, Takes
Karnak And Can Now
Almost Run Up Hill.

Day by day the remarkable health-building powers of Karnak, the sensational new medicine on sale here, is more evident.

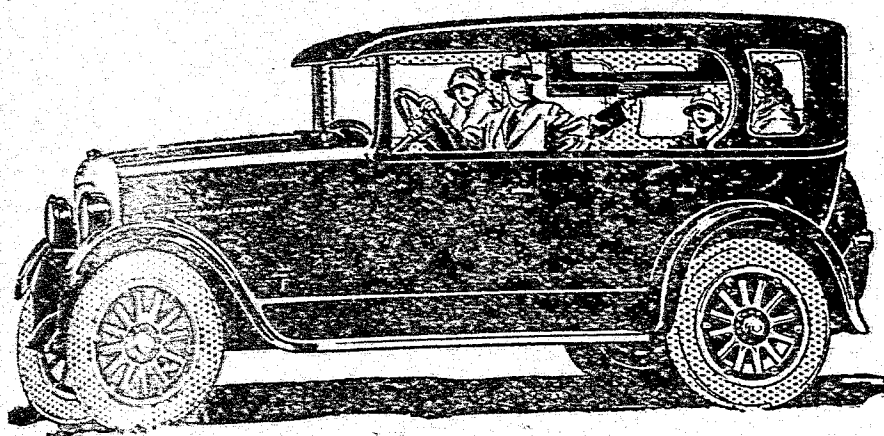

As an instance of what Karnak will do, the experience of Mrs. Walter Levesque, well-known resident of 21 Beach St., Portland, Me., is given just as she tells it:

"Karnak has been so wonderful in my case that I have been getting my friends to try this remarkable medicine, too," declares Mrs. Levesque. "Three years ago I had influenza and typhoid fever, and could never regain my strength in spite of all my efforts. I remained so weak that I could only stay on my feet for a very short time without having to stop and rest. I would simply give out from walking about a block. I couldn't eat enough to give me any strength, and was pale and felt lifeless all the time. Why, just doing my housework was more than I was equal to.

"After reading of Karnak and talking with people who know about it, I began taking this wonderful medicine myself, and in a few days I could walk up the hill from our house and just keep on going without tiring out. That was a sure sign my wind and strength were returning, and I kept right on with the medicine and began to eat hearty and feel splendid in every respect."

Karnak is sold in Norway exclusively by Frank P. Stone, and by the leading druggist in every town.

The Most Simple, Lightest Draft Windrow Loader

We want you to come in and see what we believe is the lightest draft windrow loader ever built—it is so light-draft that one man can pull it, on level land, elevating a fair-sized windrow onto the wagon.

JOHN DEERE

Dain System Windrow Loader

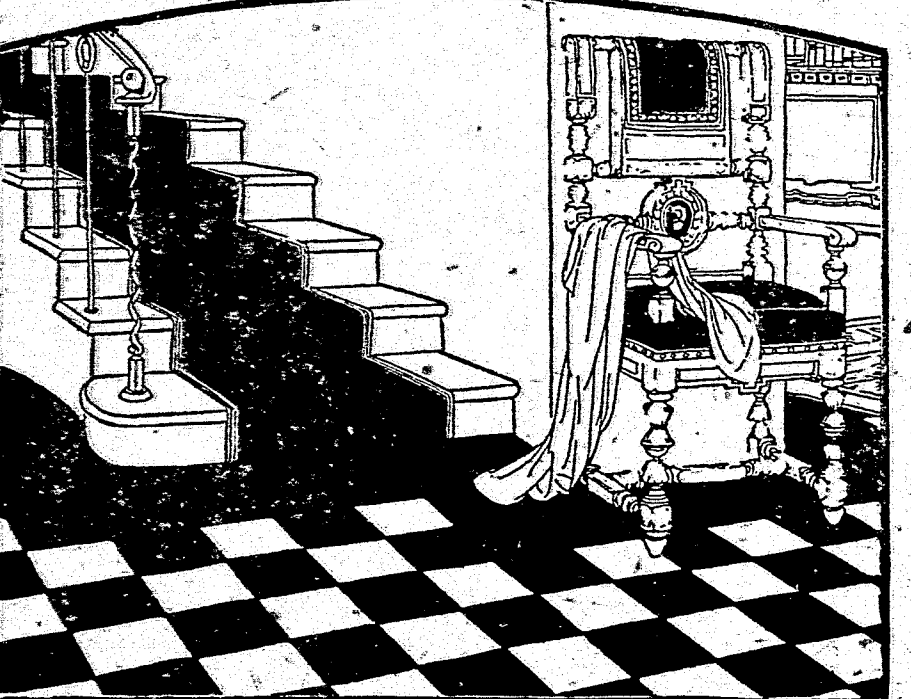

The Dain System Loader is light draft because of its simple construction—only one cylinder or drum, and is mounted on the axle. There are no gears. The loading parts are slowly driven; there is no beating or threshing of the hay; hay compression parts are automatically yielding, giving ample capacity; and the frame is mounted on the wheels in such a manner that the loader pulls easily under a heavy load.

The Dain System Windrow Loader is especially suitable for hilly land and for handling hay that has been air-cured in accordance with the Dain System. This loader will handle beans, alfalfa, clover and other kinds of hay gently without loss of leaves.

Don't forget that the Dain System Windrow Loader is on display at our store now.

What Whiting Has to Say of the Norway Advertiser

The following is a reprint from the Boston Herald in the issue of May 19 in full to let the home folks know what Mr. Whiting in his column in the big Boston paper has to say about us. We agree with his assertions.

What's Going On? Look in Town Papers. What is news? A thousand definitions leave us where we start. City newspapers have their ideas of what is news; big-city newspapers. Small-city newspapers and country papers, have other ideas. Is this news?

"Gertrude Abbott is home from Gould Academy entertaining the nuns." That item is from the South Waterford news in the Norway, Me. Advertiser. And it is news in South Waterford, and in Norway, and at Gould Academy, and in other towns in that region. In yesterday morning's Herald we read that the Board of Xpress is recovering its health. That is news, too. But less interesting than the affliction of Miss Abbott—to her home town.

Still studying that excellent newspaper, the Norway Advertiser, and observing events among North Waterford folks, we learn that "Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Hersey and family went to Locke Mills, Sunday afternoon, May 3, and saw the place where his sister is now living but did not find them at home." And that is more interesting than the affliction of Miss Abbott, and in Locke Mills and thereabouts than a plan to travel by automobile from coast to coast in seven days without stopping—which was news in our favorite paper yesterday morning.

What's going on in West Buckfield, Me. This for instance: "The Beware-go Club has a profitable and most interesting meeting at Mrs. F. A. Copper's, Friday, May 8. There were nine members, one visitor, Mrs. Bessie Buck, and several children present. And that is far more informative to the folks of West Buckfield than would have been our own paper's account of the youth and peace movement on Boston Common, Sunday."

What's the news from Fish street? From the same Maine source we find that "D. Charles has bought a Ford truck." In yesterday's Herald we saw the interesting statement that Charles C. Stillman of New York has endowed a professorship of poetry at Harvard. The professorship will do great good work and the gift is generous and well-thought. And the new Ford truck of brother Charles up in Fish street—or on Fish street—will very likely provide improved service for the neighborhood.

At Albany, Me. "Our R. F. D. man, E. O. Huley, is having quite a good deal of trouble with the new postal rates adjusted on the route." Near in our town we hear a good deal about the difficulty of the Boston & Maine railroad to adjust itself and its patrons to new conditions.

We find from the Norway Advertiser's advertising columns—and you can't know and town or any city without reading the local newspaper's advertising columns—that Mrs. Elmer Pratt of 9 Pleasant street, Norway, has for sale "all kinds of pie filling and pie butter." We wish Norway were nearer. How is Mrs. Pratt on apple pie filling? We'll bet there isn't a piece of apple core or a seed in a gallon of her pie filling. You'll find several interesting food advertisements in the Herald every day—of course.

Every newspaper has its share of melancholy news. Here's an item from the Greenwood correspondence in the Advertiser of Norway: "Lillian Ring went to Norway, Saturday, and after having 16 teeth extracted drove the car home. His father, Wesley Ring, and Mrs. Ring, accompanied him." It must have been a rather dismal ride. But in a little while Lillian will be fixed up with the kind of teeth that don't ache or cause rheumatism or indigestion or headache or falling growth or dulled hearing or anything. And Lillian Ring was for a day or two, at least, a notable man in Greenwood. Just as you are a notable personage on your street if you have just returned from a distributing visit to the hospital.

What's going on at North Paris, Me. For one thing, "Clarence Coffin is laid up with a sore finger by getting it hurt while working on the road." Is that "small town stuff"? What are the events in your family that interest you most? When your wife cuts her finger, or your little girl barks her shins or the little boys sits in the fireplace—that is news of interest to you, that the state of health of a member of your family, or the King of Spain.

How about Norway itself? We find that "Spaulding Abbott has brought in a piece of wood which was blown out of the ditch when blasting at the Jackson meadow recently. There was evidently at some time in the past was a beaver dam in the vicinity and the marks of the teeth and work of the beavers are still visible." That is that is far more interesting to the folks in the Valley of the Kings of Egypt. Beside the home of a relative of ours long ago workmen dug up some ancient Egyptian mummies and some other arrow heads—for in far-gone days stood the old stockade of the village, in days of defense against Indians. And every time we think of the stories hidden in the little fact our imagination can just as far as when we read of the diggings in Carthage.

Also in Waterford lives L. R. Rounds and family; and of course they take the Norway Advertiser. It comes to their home in the name of "Betty Rounds." And Betty is the family nurse—Mrs. Ruth's pet. Very likely Betty Rounds is the only horse in Maine or anywhere else who subscribes for a weekly newspaper. And that item of news would be news in any newspaper anywhere in the world.

At South Albany lives Mrs. Lenora (Abbott) Lebrone, who made 1270 pounds of butter from May 1, 1924 to May 1, 1925. She also assisted with the milking, having milked from one to three cows every night and morning for the whole year. She is 60 years old, "but," says the Advertiser, "few of the younger ones can step along with her."

What's the news? You will find a wealth of it—genuine human news in the press of the small cities and towns of New England.

"Cato." "There are people who owe more to bitter enemies than to their best friends—the former often speak the truth, the latter never." What a hideously frank old duffer Cato was.

To a fisherman the other side of the creek, always looks better, but when he gets over there he finds about six inches of water.

The new line will extend through Bryant Pond, Locke Mills and Walker's Mills. Bryant Pond has a power system of its own. Central Oxford County homes and industries are to be thereby insured an unlimited source of hydro-electric power to become a potent factor in the development of its natural resources.

Funeral services were held for Elberta Burnham at the Congregational church, Sunday afternoon, May 31, conducted by the Rev. S. T. Achenbach, the pastor. Miss Burnham was a faithful member. The services were largely attended. The lodge to which she belonged attended in a body. Beautiful flowers in profusion, mite offerings of love for the loved one who had crossed the Bar? literally covered the casket and altar.

Miss Burnham was the daughter of the late Pinckney and Betsy Austin Burnham and had always lived in Bethel. She leaves two sisters and nieces and nephews and a host of friends who sadly miss her passing from this life.

HUNTING BIG TROUT IN MAGALLOWAY WATER

Bosebuck Camps

Yes, I'm here! I left the place last August when the river was 20 feet lower than now. I suppose I should have said Lake-Adams Lake, or, as often called, Lake Sawyer, in memory of the late Walter Sawyer, engineer and builder of the big 13 mile cement dam here, and who for many years was the superintendent of the Union Water Power Co. of Lewiston, Me.

The old river wound its zig-zag way for many miles by heavily wooded shores undisturbed except by log driving and fishermen. My first visit was 29 years ago this June, and Pearl Flint was guide. The same person who now owns these camps and entertains hundreds of sportsmen each year. The river has been plowed out by the dam and become a lake. Its widest part is four miles and some 15 miles in length.

The camps are situated near the junction of Big and Little Magalloway. The widest part where I sit is a mile away. An island is between me and the mountain opposite, over which the sun rises.

F. P. Flint has sporting camps, a dozen or more. They are rudely constructed, but comfortable. There are many canoes and two motor boats, several "egg beating" kickers. The nearest village is on the ground is one and a half miles away at this height of water. You have to go to quick water for trout and salmon. Trilling in the lake not allowed, nor is it bait fishing. Trout legally caught come er's number is 18287 and I'm wondering if the makers have really made that number of canoes. It is a nice craft and so worthy and is propelled by a Johnson Motor which up to now has not refused to kick. It has run over some driftwood and found a few stumps even at this high pitch of water. Driftwood and stumps plague Walter and mar the paint on the boat. At high water much of it is floating to the water.

Only a small cut of wood has been made this winter, three booms are to be taken out when driving from the big lakes stop. This is done so as to save water. Shining through the big dam is expected to commence by June 15. It will take only a few days if wind is favorable to get it below the dam.

Water is rising about one-half an inch in 24 hours. Water is within 14 inches of the top of the 3-foot flash boards on the dam. When sluicing, the lake will be pretty nearly full when driving stops and consequently a big reserve for the usual summer draught down river. This is a condition much desired by the manufacturers on the river.

There are three public camps here: Walter Buckman's, Nason's and Flint's. Forty or so sports can have good accommodations. The fishing at the present time is confined to the Big Magalloway river up to Farmington, Me., 3 miles, and where the river enters the lake. It is fished continually and sufficient are familiar on short acquaintance and was some shocked and pained until she learned the next day that it was the chore boy who was thus addressed rather than herself, by Mr. Flint.

Sid Bennett, with characteristic laugh, canoe and "kicker," is here. The kicker won't work satisfactorily and has been sent to South Bend, Ind., for repairs. In the meantime Sid applies the paddle when "a tow" is not available.

George York has been discovered. He was lost to friends at Middletown. When just heard from, he was guiding at Thompson's Camps, Sebago Lake. He is now here and very much in evidence as a witness to the big fish I caught and returned to the water.

A clipping from a paper sent to E. A. Greenleaf, announcing the catch of a 27 pound salmon from the Bangor pool furnished Elgin with a theme of discussion. It was sent by W. A. Bicknell, buyer of raw furs, of Norway.

Tom Tracey was born in Bangor, but now lives in Magalloway Lower Settlement. He was here as guest of Mr. Brown of the Berlin Mills Co. Tom has worked for this company for fifty years, being retired with full pay pension two years ago. When Mr. Brown and wife go fishing, he takes Tom along with him to talk over matters regarding the interest of the company. Thomas J. Tracey is a brother of Truxy Tracey, who has been house detective and night watchman at Kineo House for the past quarter of a century. Tracey is about 80 and on the

to an artificial fly though much of the lure now in use represents a shiner or smelt and is sunk in the water when fishing. Trout will take them on surface, but usually follow them up from the depths.

I have had reasonably good success in keeping with the others and there are a dozen or more fishermen here and some of Nason's Camps. At this writing I have taken 8 trout, 1 salmon and 8 chub. The largest of the latter weighed 1.4 pounds and the largest trout 5 lbs. and 4 oz. The chub are locally known as "Magalloway Salmon" and are numerous in their season as are the mosquitoes and flies—black ones and no-see-ums. The little boater inside, but in evidence when weather will permit. Since my coming it has been too cold for trout, but the fishing has been good. However, the fishing has to be attended to even if woolen mittens are worn.

Immediately after the lake clears of ice, trout seek running water where they remain for a few days only. This is the habit of salmon. During this time caught to make it interesting, though seldom a great catch is made. One good fish per day to a party is enough. A good fish is one that will weigh from two to six pounds. Several larger than six pounds have been taken. High line to date is five pounds and shiners and minnows are used for bait. The daily limit is three pounds or one fish, and you are limited in number to ten fish. In other words you can catch ten trout in one day provided the weight is 3 pounds or less, or you can get one fish, no matter what its weight. The rules are lived up to pretty carefully and I assure you no fish are wasted. Worms and shiners are used for bait, but not in the same way as you would expect. I have seen evidence of this but none in actual use. It is impossible for the state game warden to assist. Game warden cannot be ever present.

Eddie Bernier of Berlin, N. H., took a trout at the camp, became sick and had to leave. Mr. Flint is securing the country for retired list. You should have heard Elgin Greenleaf and Tom Tracey talk over Bangor characters of fifty years ago!

The register at Bosebuck Camps shows that 224 sports were there in 1920. The following year 1921 246; in 1922, 295 guests; 1923, 300 and for 1924 it dropped to 285. To date (May 21) 34 have registered. The season has been cold and backward, but for a number of trout have been taken. The upper river is free of logs, hence more opportunity for anglers.

The block of pumpkin pie recently received by the Weary Club whittlers was sent by Ernest C. Bennett of Wilson's Mills and not his brother, S. W. Bennett, whom we wrongfully accused. This I've apologized to Sid and extend thanks to Ernest. The pie is all right and will furnish many hours of innocent amusement to the Wearies. Straight grained cedar is hard to find here and for whittling I have substituted pumpkin pie which is plentiful of good quality.

The expense attending the getting of big fish is also big. That is, big fish run

Landing at Lincoln Pond, where Flint has a Comfortable Camp and Plenty of Fishing

they are ready feeders and will take bait and flies. The latter must be sunk to obtain the best results. A stranger or long-tail, representing a minnow, if skillfully handled, gets the most fish, though occasionally they will come to the surface.

This season I have caught sixty trout and salmon all of them coming to the "dust" net. Only few have taken it on the surface. Over half of them were taken on a contraption of a feather put together by F. W. Waite of Norway. I have named the fly "Ike's Last Resort."

A year ago I took more than a hundred weight of fish on that variety of lure. Please don't think I've killed all these fish. I have not, only a few have been killed such as was needed. Up to now this season I've killed only six fish out of the 46 taken.

Elgin Greenleaf of Norway came along with Walter and I to see the country and relate fish stories and hunting adventures. Incidentally beats him at cribbage which pleases him greatly. While I'm writing, he is out fishing. We have a new Kennebec Sponsored canoe, making another cook. He has probably found one ere this. During the winter, Mrs. Flint did the cooking and Mrs. Kilgore waited on table. She recently came to this country from England and married Willy Kilgore, the guide. She is a good waitress, but unfamiliar with American names for food, which causes her to blush when she makes a mistake and calls "porridge" instead of oatmeal. I asked for molasses and she was some bewildered. I explained and called it "sorghum syrup" and she caught my meaning and brought molasses, saying she was used to hearing it called syrup.

The chore-boy is a Canadian, bright and active. He has a sister who helps him; neither can talk much English, but she is called "Rosie," a write it.

In looking back, I notice that a 4 pound 3 oz. fish cost $1.05, that was in 1923. The following year, 1924, two trips were made into the Magalloway wilderness at an expense of $175.20 and the biggest trout that came to me was 2 1/2 pounds. Walter Smith, guide, netted a dead trout found under a log that weighed close to 7 pounds. The fish had been hooked in the gills and broke away and died from effect of wound. A large hook had been used. It was a noble specimen of trout and worthy of a better ending.

The trip to Norway for 8 days at an expense of $131.06 and resulted in getting one big fish and 18 smaller ones, 3 small salmon and 9 chubs.

Total expense of the trip was $482.61, exclusive of the cost of a guide. Walter did the guiding and he draws an annual salary which is not reckoned in the above summary.

I'm hoping to return in August and visit the brooks where big fish are sure to be waiting for me.

—F. W. Sanborn.
